

It's 70 million years ago. Pterosaurs with giant wings sweep across a shallow bay. Fish eating plesiosaurs hunt beneath the waves. Something limps along the shore. It's a savage theropod. This one is old and sick. A few days later, it dies.